Revised GST Rates for Daily Essential Items

In the 47th meeting held in June by the Goods and Service Tax Council, the latest GST Rates were declared to be effective from 18th July 2022. With the prices of essentials such as Petrol, LPG, etc., being already high due to inflation, the latest GST Rates may set a strain on the daily household budgets.

The Central Board of Indirect Taxes and Customs (CBIC) has implemented that all food packaged commodities such as cereals, pulses and flour that weigh up to 25 kilograms are to be categorised under “Packaged and Labelled Commodity” and will be liable for a 5% GST to be effective from 18th July 2022.

The CBIC has also specified that such supplies being bought in loose quantity in packs of 25 kgs by retail shop owners directly from the producer or the distributor are not liable to pay the implemented GST.

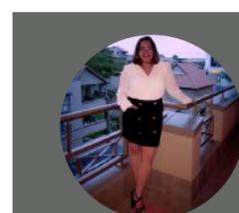

The CBIC Has also notified that cereal-based food items are to fall within the purview of pre-packaged food commodity regulations in accordance with the Legal Metrology Act, 2009.

The CBIC has also issued a notification stating the FAQs in regard to “Pre-Packaged and Labelled Commodities” on Sunday, a day prior to the implementation of the latest GST rates, i.e., 17th July 2022.

The following Table states the comparison of the previous and latest implemented GST Rates:
